SEA POLICE TRAINING SCHOOL AT PAROW

There were 1,100 men at the school in June 1951. Of these, 120 were officer instructors, 200 were non-commissioned officers and enlisted men, and the remainder were students. The students were divided into six companies consisting of from 100-160 men each. Courses varied in length from 8-24 months. The report gives the names of the company commander and the political officer for each of the six companies, the mailing address of the school, vehicles at the disposal of the school, weapons, naval craft, uniforms, and the political organization of the school. Mention is made of the two men through whom liaison is maintained with the State Security Service. Brief biographical sketches are given of the Inspector, the School Commander, the Chief Political Instructor, and the Chief Naval Instructor at the school.
